WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators, fearing a rash of pleas for federal funds to bail out cash-stricken government contractors, sought today to draw legal boundaries around the Lockheed Corp.'s plea for $200 million interim financing to complete the C5 supertransport program.

Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wisc., and Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., sought cosponsors for an amendment to restrict use of the funds requested by the Pentagon.

In letters to their colleagues, the senators said their proposal would make sure the planes are built and employees kept at work without rewarding Lockheed, for what they called mismanagement.

Their effort is in the latest step in a long controversy involving costly overruns in the C5 program. Lockheed claims it needs $200 million to keep the program going.

The senators' amendment would require payment of the funds in fiscal year 1971 only if approved either by the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals or a court.

Or, if court-appointed trustees in a bankruptcy or reorganization situation determined it, then all or part of the $200 million could be paid if necessary to insure delivery of 42 planes due June 30, 1971.

Billing their amendment the "keep building the planes proposal," Proxmire and Schweiker said the $200 million request is in dispute because the Air Force insists it doesn't owe the money while the Pentagon says an additional $800 million will be needed to complete the 81-plane program.

"It would set an unconscionable precedent," they said. "If Congress or the Pentagon puts up $200 million to 'bail out' Lockheed under these conditions, hundreds of unsupported claims of government contractors will follow."

The amendment, to be offered to the military procurement authorization bill, also proposes:

- Requiring a comptroller (general's report on Lockheed's financial capability to meet 1971 contract requirements.
- Requiring a second such report on the prospects and costs for delivery of the 81 planes.
- Directing the Secretary of Defense to give the C5 program top priority in any legal proceedings.

Bombers Try to Scatter Cong Troops

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attempted today to scatter North Vietnamese troops reported massing for an attack on a South Vietnamese artillery and patrol base near the northwest frontier with Laos.

Twenty of the big bombers unloaded 600 tons of bombs on enemy bunkers, base camps and staging areas within three miles of Fire Base O'Reilly, one of five allied bases set up in the area to block an enemy advance into the populous coastal lowlands 20 miles to the east. Tactical fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships flew through anti-aircraft fire to pound North Vietnamese positions closer to the base.

Associated Press correspondent Willis Johnson reported from O'Reilly that despite the heavy air strikes, enemy gunners were still firing mortars into the base.

North Vietnamese infantrymen struck a few hours before dawn with machine guns, grenades and flame throwers, attacking government troops in night bivouac half a mile south of the base. Maj. Nguyen Van, commander of the base, said 15 North Vietnamese and one South Vietnamese were killed and four government troops were wounded.

Officers said at least seven South Vietnamese have been killed and 45 wounded in three days of fighting around O'Reilly. Most of them were in patrols operating from the base.

The regimental commander, Col. Nguyen Van Diem, estimated more than 200 enemy killed by air and artillery in the three days of fighting, and said about 50 more had been killed by South Vietnamese infantrymen.

Lt. Robert S. Ligon, Jr., P.O. Box 619, Hope, Arkansas right, was graduated August 8th from the Arkansas Military Academy, at Camp Joseph T. Robinson with a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Arkansas Army National Guard and as a reserve officer in the army of the United States. ## MURDER OF ernment refused to deal with the kidnappers, and Mitrone was found shot to death early Monday in an abandoned stolen car.

Last Friday the guerrillas seized another hostage, Claude L. Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., an American agricultural expert working for the Uruguayan government.

A Uruguayan television station received a note Monday saying the kidnappers would execute Daia's Gornide at midnight if the estimated 150 political prisoners were not freed. Government security agencies refused to confirm the authenticity of the note, and the deadline passed with no word from the kidnappers.

The note did not mention Fly.

Congress met in special session Monday and approved President Jorge Pacheco Areco's request for suspension of all individual civil rights for 20 days. This gives the police more freedom in their massive search for the kidnappers and their hostages, which already has resulted in the capture of 100 suspects and several top Tupamaro leaders.

The government also broadened press censorship, forbidding newspapers to publish photos related to the Mitrone killing. They are barred from referring to the Tupamaros by name under earlier censorship regulations.

Congress declared Monday a day of mourning for Mitrone, and all businesses and offices were closed.

After Mitrone's body was found, Dias Gornide's wife made an emotional radio appeal to the government and people of Uruguay. Sobbing, she said the guerrillas had told her in a message to urge the public to gather in front of Government House and demand that the president free the political prisoners.

Political demonstrations are illegal in Uruguay, and there was no public response to her appeal. Pacheco Areco released a statement denouncing the slaying of Mitrone but reiterating his refusal to deal with the guerrillas, whom he calls common criminals.

In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. government had urged the Uruguayan government to do everything possible to secure the safe return of Mitrone. But he said Washington did not press Montevideo to meet the kidnappers' demands because that would encourage other terrorists to kidnap more Americans.

are preparing an alternate bill, said their predictions on the sharp drop in participation were based on these provisions in the pending House bill:

—A new cost-sharing provision under which states would be required to pay 2.5 per cent of the bonus value of the coupons in the first year and slide upward to 10 per cent in the fourth year. The federal government now pays the entire bonus value of the stamps, which represents the difference between the value and the amount paid by eligible recipients.

—A work requirement which, they said, is probably unworkable "and, where it can be enforced, might well in many cases be socially destructive."

—Restrictions which bar free food stamps to families with no income.

—National eligibility standards for which no minimum income level for participation is defined.

Money Trouble Forces UAW Cutbacks

By NEIL GILBRIDE AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Alliance for Labor Action, born out of the late Walter Reuther's bitter fight with the AFL-CIO, has slashed its financing in half because of money troubles plaguing the United Auto Workers, informed sources confirmed today.

The cutback will reduce the alliance's annual income to some $2 million a year, sources said.

The organization was financed primarily by the Auto Workers, Teamsters and several smaller affiliates. Its purpose was to organize the unorganized and conduct social programs.

The decision to cut the unions' per capita monthly payments from 10 cents to 5 cents was made two weeks ago in Detroit and never publicly announced, sources added.

Reports of the UAW's financial squeeze surfaced after Reuther was killed last May in a plane crash.

Leonard Woodcock, who succeeded Reuther as president of the UAW, reportedly requested the cut. At the same time, Woodcock announced the layoff of some 175 Auto Workers employees and other budget cuts to help make up a reported $4 million deficit in the union's general fund.

The cut in contributions to the Alliance will save the Auto Workers some $80,000 a month, or nearly $1 million a year.

The 2 million member Teamsters, the nation's wealthiest union, will drop its Alliance payments from some $200,000 a month to $100,000.

Woodcock said the Auto Workers problems stemmed from a drop in membership and dues income, but he had confirmed previously that Reuther's spending on the union's Black Lake, Mich., family education center had created much of the deficit. Some $18 million was spent on the center.

The Auto Workers-Teamsters' Alliance for Labor Action was formed two years ago after Reuther pulled out of the AFL-CIO in a bitter leadership quarrel with its president, George Meany.

The Teamsters had been ousted from the AFL-CIO 13 years ago on corruption charges, largely at Reuther's insistence at the time.

The Alliance was created amid much publicity, but reportedly wasn't spending all its income and now has about $1.5 million in the bank.

There also are indications of disenchantment on both sides and speculation the Alliance may be dissolved in a year or so.

"Social programs aren't exactly our bag," said a well-placed source in the Teamsters Union, although he added that a few projects are being given a tentative trial.

High Auto Workers sources also hinted the Alliance may not be continued indefinitely, especially in view of speculation the Auto Workers might rejoin the AFL-CIO.

'Teach in the Happy Country Down Under' Lures 9,000 Teachers

By IAN McCausland Associated Press Writer SYDNEY, Australia (AP) —

An advertisement with the invitation "Teach in the happy country down under" has drawn inquiries from 9,000 teachers in the United States.

The drive is for schools in New South Wales, the state which has Sydney as its capital.

"We have been astonishingly successful," says Cecil Rubie, of the state's Education Ministry. "We have had to send four additional staff members to the United States to cope with the inquiries."

The advertisement ran once in single newspapers in Washington, New York, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans and Chicago.

An ad in Canada drew 1,500 inquiries. One ran in chilly Britain and headed "Teach in the sun" brought 3,500 bids for further information.

The greatest number of American inquiries came from California, where some 3,000 teachers responded to the ad, the Education Ministry said. About 2,200 teachers from New York expressed interest, while 1,125 from Maryland and 960 from Connecticut replied.

The unofficial target is 1,000 teachers to overcome what threatens to be an acute shortage in 1971-72.

If 1,000 teachers arrive, this "happy country down under" will be happier; if double this number decides to immigrate it will be delighted.

The shortage stems mainly from a change in the school system under which pupils study for six years in secondary school instead of five. The alteration set up a delayed-action gap of school-leavers which will become evident this year with fewer college graduates taking teacher training.

Another reason for the shortage, teachers say is that the New South Wales government has failed to expedite plans for expanded teacher-training colleges.

The recruitment is welcomed in the United States, says Rubie, since U.S. Office of Education has said 6,000 of 189,000 college graduates with teaching degrees will be unable to find jobs this year.

Salaries in Australia do not compare with those of North America, but neither does the cost of living. A certified teacher straight from college will earn $4,593 a year here. That sort of money puts one in the middle-income group. With five years' teaching experience the minimum salary is $5,604. Those with proven ability will earn more and their opportunities for promotion.

Desegregation Funds Await Nixon's Sig

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Education Commissioner A. W. Ford said Monday legislation that would provide about $4 million in emergency assistance to Arkansas school districts having problems with desegregation is awaiting the signature of President Nixon.

Ford said that districts that had completed total desegregation since September 1968, or that will totally desegregate this fall may be eligible for the aid.

Ford said the money could be used to help communities go to a unitary school system. The money can be applied to the establishment of early childhood development programs, kindergarten and remedial reading, which would help blacks overcome deprivation.

The commissioner has sent a memorandum to the administrators of the state's biracial school districts inviting them to a briefing at the state Education Building on how the money is to be distributed and spent.

Epidemic of Cholera in Russia

By HOLGER JENSEN Associated Press Writer MOSCOW (AP) —

Pears mounted today that a cholera epidemic might spread over the Soviet Union despite newspaper assurances that it had been limited to the Astrakhan region.

Astrakhan, a major industrial city 800 miles southeast of Moscow, was the first to report the cholera outbreak last week. The labor newspaper Trud said that "owing to energetic measures, the hotbed of diseases has been localized there."

The paper did not explain why Soviet authorities imposed quarantines and travel restriction on 11 major cities from southern Georgia to the western Ukraine. Nor did it say how many cases of cholera had actually been treated or whether there had been any deaths. Residents of Moscow who contacted relatives on holiday in the south reported near panic conditions in summer resort areas on eastern shores of Black Sea and Crimean Peninsula.

They said thousands of vacationers trying to leave the quarantined cities were being refused airline and rail tickets.

Newspapers continued to blame travelers from other parts of Asia for bringing cholera into the Soviet Union.

They warned all citizens that water, unwashed vegetables, flies and "dirty hands favor intensive spreading cholera."

Similar warnings which mentioned only "intestinal diseases" have appeared in Moscow's markets, sparking rumors that the disease had already infected the Soviet capital.

There are a lot of bridge superstitions but the only one we place any faith in is that of the late P. Hal Sims. He always said that spades was his lucky suit.

It is our lucky suit also and, in fact, is everybody's lucky suit. The reason is that it outranks all the others and, if you hold the spades, you can force your opponents one trick higher if they want to play the hand.

South held the spades and got to game. He lost the first two club tricks, ruffed the third club trick, drew trumps with two leads, ran off the three good hearts, finally led a diamond and finessed dummy's queen. East plunked down the king and returned the deuce. South studied awhile and finally played his eight-spot but his play made no difference. West covered the eight with the nine and South had to lose another trick in that suit.

"I'm the unluckiest player in the world," moaned South. "I can never get a finesse to work."

This might be true. At least, the finesse didn't work this time but South's failure to make the game was due to bad play. Or maybe he was superstitious about counting to 13.

When West discarded on the third club, East was marked with six cards in that suit. Then East showed up with exactly two spades and followed to three hearts. He couldn't hold more than two diamonds.

South should have cashed dummy's ace, returned to his hand with a third trump and led a diamond to dummy's queen. East would have taken his king but would have been forced to lead a club to allow South a ruff and discard.

The leading suit couturier of the West Coast executes the pant-suit (left) in a fingertip length, double-breasted baby coat of camel, white and gray French imported Rimone's plaid flannel. Designer Paul Schnell has combined this with a polo shirt of Berrocco's double knit. The elongated polo shirt falls over a pair of mantolored flannel gray trumpet pants. The coat (right) is the personification of two eras. It builds a bridge that gaps the '30s with the '70s. ### GRATITUDE ISN'T LOVE

Dear Helen:
I'm short, fat and ugly (175 pounds, with stringy hair, etc.) But I found a boy friend, my first.

We can't get married for at least four years. He's a drop-out and will probably be drafted, and I have to finish college. We've been going together for two months, though, and he says he can't wait any longer, and if I love him...you know, it's the same old story, but it seems awfully new when it's finally happening to YOU.

Having a boy friend is wonderful and I can't bear to lose him, but I just don't want to give in. Maybe I'm cold or something because love is supposed to be irresistible, and yet I resist. But I'm weakening. Remember, when you're 16 and ugly and someone finally notices you, it's awfully hard not to try and keep him any way you can.

Please send me some good defenses. — DON'T WANT TO

Dear DWT:
Your best defense is that you don't really love this boy. If you were 50 pounds thinner and didn't see yourself as "fat and ugly," you might not even date him — for then you'd have a choice of several.

Gratitude isn't love, DWT, and "fear of losing him" is the poorest excuse for an affair. It means your self-esteem is so low that you figure you have nothing except sex to offer a boy and, believe me, when it's available, he soon figures this isn't very much.

Instead of trying to buy affection, make yourself into the kind of girl who wins it. Consult your doctor about a safe diet; enroll in a self-improvement course at the "Y" or a local charm school; experiment with new hair styles and treatments; find the right make-up. But most of all, work on a new, positive personality that says, "Hey, I'm worth knowing," not, "Go away, I'm a failure." — H.

P.S. Here are couple more "defenses" from my friends: Dear Helen:

I've noticed quite a few letters from teen-age girls, wondering how far they should go with their guys.

Well, when I was 15, I went all the way, just out of curiosity, and because I thought I'd be considered "cool," and therefore keep my steady interested. It didn't work out that way.

Now I realize that after the first time, the second, third, fourth, etc. temptations aren't

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Daniel Boone," who over the years appeared to have been primarily responsible for winning the American Revolution — with a little help from his friends — has been retired by NBC. But his cause will be carried on next season by ABC's "Young Rebels."

The action series set in 1777 is hung on three young people who are supposed to be members of a secret American patriotic group called "The Yankee Doodle Society." Its television genealogy apparently includes "Mod Squad" and "The Scarlet Pimpernel."

Since ABC has placed the series in an early Sunday evening time period, euphemistically referred to as a "family viewing hour" the series obviously is aimed at the under-18 audience. Certainly it is youth-oriented in cast and viewpoint.

Rick Ely, the youthful blond actor who is one of its three leads, explained that while some liberties have been taken with historical fact in the interest of dramatic impact, "our scripts are more concerned with the philosophy of the revolution and the moral wrongs that were committed."

Ely, who has had little television exposure, will play a young Pennsylvanian, Jeremy Larkin, who is believed to be a lazy, ne'er-do-well, but is really the leader of the underground patriots and, under a secret commission from General Lafayette himself, a captain in the Continental Army.

In what has become almost standard casting practice since "Mod Squad" and "Mission: Impossible," there is another young patriot—an apothecary whose knowledge of science permits him to pull off such coups easy to turn down. I've never been promiscuous, but the second guy wouldn't have happened, if there hadn't been the first experience.

I'm lucky because these facts never got around and I still have a good reputation, but now I'm 19 and I'm finding out that when you really care for a guy, you wish he had been the first, especially if you are planning to be married to him someday. He probably feels the same.

I'm not saying sex is taboo but I think it should be handled maturely or a girl may end up with a low opinion of herself. These young girls who think they're grown up but aren't, will discover they don't feel the same about a certain subject in a few years. But then it will be too late. Love is much too powerful an emotion to experiment with too young. — NOT PREACHING, WARNING

Dear Helen:

When I read "Too Good's" letter (about the fellow who went back to his "easy" ex-girl friend because his new girl was "too good for him"), I didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but I sympathize. Same thing happened to me! I was 16, the guy was 17. I loved him, but I also was "too good." So he chose a as exploding powder kegs with electricity discovered only a few years before by Benjamin Franklin—and another who is a blacksmith and former slave.

"He bought his freedom, but we don't know exactly how," explained Ely. Generally, though, there is a relationship between the young people and the young people now, although we don't hammer away on it. I think that the years between 15 and 25 are a waking-up period; people over 25 are more likely to simmer down. When you are young, you are more likely to want to speak up or do something about injustices and inequities."

Ely, who looks like a teenager, is old enough to be divorced and the father of a 6-year-old daughter. A native of Indiana, Rick has had some stage experience. Although he has not appeared professionally as a single he has been signed by a record company and his first single will be released at about the same time that "The Young Rebels" is launched opposite "Lassie" and "The Disney Hour" in mid-September. "There is no connection between the two," said Ely, as though he really believed it.

New School Plan Studied at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock School board met this afternoon to approve a new desegregation plan that must be submitted to federal court today.

Supt. Floyd W. Parsons said Sunday that he and other school officials had "worked our hearts out — we really haven't gotten anywhere."

Parsons said that he believes that school will open in September, but he said there is the possibility the opening will be delayed from Sept. 8. The geographic desegregation plan was vetoed by the U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis. During a hearing last week, U.S. District Judge J. Smith Hanley said the board's altered plan still did not meet requirements.

Pharmacy Topics

According to Dr. Ernest L. Wynder of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, high fat diets, long thought contributory to heart disease, now are suspect in breast cancer. This may be one reason why breast cancer is eight times higher in the United States than in Japan.

There were about two million weddings last year, with Hawaii showing the greatest increase and the District of Columbia the greatest decrease.

Though middle-income families spend over $2500 yearly on food, 37 per cent are poorly nourished.

I want to thank every one who sent in a name for our new drug store. We received many, many names and some very good and unique ideas. After spending much time considering all the possibilities, I decided to name the new store after my wife, Deanna. So the name of the new drug store is DEANNA DRUG. Since no one sent in this name, we decided to give the prize to the first person who sent in the name Doug's Drugs, since this name was entered more times than any other name. The first person to send in this name was David Peterson, 402 East 17th St., Hope, Ark. David wins $50.00 in merchandise in the new drug store.

Watch the construction on DEANNA DRUG at the Corner of 6th & Main St., soon we will have two locations to give you better service.

Mets Over Pirates in 10-2 Victory

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

When the blackout finally was lifted at Pittsburgh, the lights went out for the Pirates.

New York's resilient Mets parlayed 10 hits, 11 walks and three Pittsburgh errors with the crisp pitching of Tom Seaver for a 10-2 victory Monday night in a game delayed 27 minutes at the start by a power shutdown at the Pirates' new Three Rivers Stadium.

Seaver bounced back after a wobbly start to scatter six hits, pocket his 17th victory of the season and propel the Mets within 2½ lengths of first place Pittsburgh in the National League East.

In the only other activity in the majors, Oakland trimmed Minnesota 7-3 and Boston outlasted Detroit 11-10.

After a fire broke out in the vicinity of the stadium, power lines controlling the lights were shut off as a precautionary measure as the Pirates trotted onto the field for the start of the game.

When the lights came back on, the Pirates quickly set Seaver back, scoring twice with the help of three walks and Al Oliver's double.

Then the Pirates' eclipse began.

Two walks and a throwing error by first baseman Oliver on Seaver's potential inning-ending double play lap contributed to a five-run New York binge in the second.

Ellis went out for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning and Tommie Agee socked a two-run triple off reliever Dick Colpaert in the third. Colpaert and Jim Nelson then walked five more in the fourth as the Mets scored another pair without a hit for a 9-2 bulge.

Ex-Pirate Donn Clendenon, listlessly jeered by the big crowd each time he came to bat, climaxed a 3-for-3 night in the seventh with his 16th homer of the season.

Seaver, meanwhile, settled down to blank the Pirates on five harmless singles over the final eight innings, bringing his season mark to 17-4 and earning the Mets a split of the four-game set.

While the Mets closed ground in the NL East, the A's cut into Minnesota's once-gaping American League West lead. They cuffed five pitchers for 19 hits, including a home run, two doubles and a single by Rick Monday in trimming the Twins for the third time in two days.

The loss left the Twins 6½ games ahead of second place California and seven up on Oakland.

Billy Conigliaro drove in four runs with his 15th homer and two singles, and his brother, Tony, delivered three with a single and two sacrifice flies as the Red Sox held off the Tigers in the other AL day game.

The Tigers, trailing 11-3 in the ninth, struck for seven runs, kayoing winner Sonny Siebert, before reliever Chuck Hartenstein fanned Bill Freehan for the final out with the tying run on base.

Rudy Clay Back in Boxing Ring

MIAMI (AP) — Shave the natty mustache and he's a double for older brother Cassius. Check the hotel register and he's Rahaman Ali. Boxing placards at Miami Beach Auditorium tell you the man is Rudolph Valentino Clay.

Rudy Clay returns to the ring Tuesday night after a five-year layoff. He's a strapping 192-pounder, his handsome ebony features a matched set of the man now known as Muhammad Ali.

Rudy acted as Cassius' sparring partner through the championship years that ended with the older brother's last fight against Zora Folley in 1967. His undefeated record is 3-0.

Rudy, like Cassius, is a Black Muslim. He lives in Chicago with his wife, Sandra, and their two girls, Alicia, 3, and Regina.

B. Crampton Lured to U.S. by Golf Money

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Bruce Crampton was waiting for his luggage at an airport, watching a series of conveyor belts snaking through, under and around walls and corridors.

"Do you think it will work?" a companion asked, looking skeptically at the arrangement designed to deliver the bags.

"I've got to believe in it," replied Crampton. "I'm at their mercy now."

Then he smiled and added: "If it's in this country, I'll believe in it. If you people can't make it work, it won't work."

This is the greatest country in the world. If you can't believe in this country, everyone is in trouble."

Crampton, a 34-year-old native of Australia, had just arrived for the $200,000 PGA National Championship that starts Thursday on the 6,962-yard, par-70 Southern Hills Country Club course.

The soft-spoken veteran of 14 years on the tough American tour and one of the game's most consistent performers will be one of the top candidates for the $40,000 first prize in this, the last of the four major championships offered annually.

His credentials are impressive. He won the rich Winchester Classic two weeks ago, finished second in the American Golf Classic last week and teamed with Orville Moody for second in the National Four-Ball three weeks ago.

That's a victory and two seconds in three starts, second only in recent showings to Jack Nicklaus. His $50,000 first prize at Westchester boosted him to his third consecutive $100,000 season and made him, with Gary Player, the only foreigners to reach $500,000 in a career on the American tour.

"If I'd won $50,000 when I'd first come over here, I think I'd have just turned around and gone home," said Crampton, who now lives with his wife and son in Dallas. "At that time you could just about retire on $50,000."

Crampton, a native of Sydney, came to the United States in 1957 as a 20-year-old, a two-year professional and the recent winner of the Australian Open.

"I'd been invited over to play in the Masters," Crampton recalled, "and I came over early to play in some tournaments. The first one was Houston and I won about $700. Arnold Palmer won the tournament. The first prize was about $6,000. They came out with a big silver cup to present him and it was full of money."

"I looked at it and my eyes bugged out to here. I didn't know there was that much money in the world. I decided then that this is the place for me."

Since making that decision, he has won nine tour titles and more than $450,000, ranking ninth on the all-time list. Even though he's a steady performer, he's a relative unknown to the average fan, when ranked along side some of the giants of the game.

"That's one reason I'm glad I won Westchester," said the modest man who doesn't mix much with other players on the tour.

"It was a big, important tournament. Now when I enter a tournament, maybe I'll be an asset to the promoters, to the sponsors. I want to play a lot to help them. I want to put something back in this game."

Although now a factor to be reckoned with everytime he enters a tournament, it hasn't always been easy for Crampton.

"When I came to this country," he said, "the restrictions on currency at home were such that you could only take $2,500 American out."

"So I came over to play with only $2,500 and it wasn't that much even at that time."

He said it takes hard work over a long stretch to make it.

"The players on the American tour are the best in the world. You've got to stay at it. (Bruce) Devlin found that out when he tried to go home a couple of times each year. You can't do it. There's a young player who was over here for a year who turned tail and ran. You can't do that. You've got to stay here."

"I think Tony Jacklin (the young Englishman who recently won the U.S. Open) will find that out. I don't think he can commute between here and England."

Pro Boxers May Get Pension Plan

MONTREAL (AP) — A proposal to establish a pension plan for professional boxers is under study by the World Boxing Association.

The organization is holding its annual meeting here.

The WBA was asked Monday by Van Nixon, secretary of the Washington, D.C., Boxing Commission to establish a pension fund and make it available for any veteran of 25 pro fights once he becomes 55.

"We are the only sport that doesn't take care of its own," Nixon said.

He was supported by David Ott of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio Boxing Commission, who presented the results of a three-month study which he said demonstrated such a move was feasible.

WBA President Emile Brueneau of New Orleans also backed the proposal, saying a pension "would be the greatest thing we could give boxing."

A committee was appointed to draft a format for a pension plan and will make its report Wednesday, last day of the meeting.

Delegates from at least 10 countries, including Canada and the United States, are attending the three-day conference to discuss ratings, organizational problems and ways to put boxing back on its feet, especially in North America.

Nixon said a pension plan was a necessity, considering the number of "scrambled fighters" who were left physically and financially ruined after their careers in the ring.

A plan has been proposed at WBA meetings before, Ott said, but "if we really care about any of these guys we must do something now."

Earlier Monday, the association amended its membership restrictions to allow state and provincial boxing commissions outside the United States to join the WBA.

Brueneau, in his presidential report, told the meeting that while the sport is suffering in North America, "it is doing better than it ever did in the rest of the world."

G. Chuvalo Called a Medical Risk

MONTREAL (AP) — George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight champ, was singled out as a medical risk in a report Monday to the World Boxing Association presented by Dr. Leon Feldman, international medical adviser to the organization.

In recommending several stiff reforms, Dr. Feldman, of Asheville, N.C., suggested that Chuvalo be barred from the ring for his own good.

18 months.

"I've made a good living lately selling appliances," said Rudy. "My job is with Polk Brothers, one of Chicago's largest chains. That's the reason my return to boxing isn't for the money."

Rudy claims Cassius "would love to box again, but he's frustrated by all the proposals that fell through for one reason or another."

Rudy says his ring maneuvers are similar to those of Cassius. "I hit and move," he said. "The object is to strike and not be struck."

Clay Asking to Fight in Canada

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U. S. Attorney's office in Houston said it will oppose a request made by Cassius Clay to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals that the ex-heavyweight boxing champ be allowed to fight in Canada.

Clay is asking for permission to fight in the Maple Leaf exhibition at Toronto Oct. 18.

The U. S. attorney for the Southern District of Texas, Anthony J. Farris, said Clay's latest appeal is based on the U. S. Seventh Circuit Court ruling that Abbie Hoffman be allowed to go to Cuba.

Hoffman was convicted in the Chicago seven conspiracy trial and his appeal is before the Seventh Circuit court.

That court has allowed him almost a month to do research on a story on youth culture in Cuba for a Havana magazine. Clay's petition stated.

The petition stated the only difference in the two men's situation — both appealing their convictions — is that Hoffman is white and Clay is black.

Clay was convicted in federal court in Houston in 1968 for refusing induction into the armed forces on the grounds he was a Black Muslim minister.

He won a new trial, claiming wiretapping of his conversations by the FBI was used against him illegally at his trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham, who presided over the first trial, ruled that the wiretaps had not been damaging to the ex-champ.

That decision is now on appeal to the Supreme Court after being upheld by the Fifth Circuit Court.

Buchan leads in the over-all standings after the two races with 100 points, just one ahead of Schoonmaker.

Jim Bouton Announces Retirement

By JOHN HOTARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton, author of the controversial book, "Ball Four," has called his own third strike.

He said he just didn't have it anymore and announced his retirement Monday from baseball.

Bouton said he didn't want to spend the next couple of years in the minor leagues trying to get his once-famed knuckleball back. He made the announcement at a news conference at the apartment complex where he lives.

Bouton had pitched and lost two games for Oklahoma City, where the Houston Astros sent him July 31.

"I've been having trouble with the knuckleball this year and it looks like it might take me another two or three years bouncing around in the minor leagues to perfect it," he said.

"I'll have two kids in school this fall and three next year. The minors are a very rough life for a family."

He said he'd rather make the break now instead of next spring because of job opportunities which might not be available then.

Meanwhile, the 31-year-old pitcher plans to see if he can make it in the semipro, indicating he will play for the Ridgeview Paramus Barons near his home in Wyckoff, N.J.

"Maybe they'll let me play if I can come up with a pitch," he laughed.

He isn't eligible to play for the Barons until next year.

He also will write a sequel to his best-seller.

Bouton said he decided to quit Saturday and tried to contact Astro General Manager Spec Richardson Sunday night.

The right-hander flew to Houston from Oklahoma City late Sunday night and told the club Monday morning he wanted to be put on the voluntary retirement list.

He is technically under suspension until the retirement is official.

Houston Manager Harry Walker said when the book came out this year that Bouton's pitching might suffer because he would be having interviews while on the road.

Bouton acknowledged Monday that it had.

He has drawn no fines from the Astros, although some consider the book critical of Richardson and Walker. He was called in for a conference with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Bouton, who entered the majors with the New York Yankees in 1962 and stayed with them until 1968, has been severely criticized by his peers for the book.

PGA Is Only Match Palmer Never Won

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — "I want to win the PGA, no doubt about it, but I wouldn't be here if I didn't consider this tournament just as important." Arnold Palmer had that word Monday for some 450 teen-agers who gathered for a clinic put on by the golfing great who flew from Tulsa, Okla., site of the PGA. It's the only major tournament Palmer has never won. "I'm concerned with the disenchanted youth in our land, and I consider one of the most important things in life is to get kids on the golf course," he said. "I never found a kid on a golf course dipping in a dope bottle."

Palmer played seven holes with Texans Bobby Harwell and Ben Crenshaw, who tied for the low amateur in the U.S. Open, and Oklahomans Mark DeBolt and Bruce Scott.

A crowd of 5,000 followed them over the Weeks Park Memorial Golf Course.

To Palmer's amazement, Harwell eagled the first hole and birdied the second. Palmer jokingly gave him a long stare before teeing off on the next hole and Harwell proceeded to bogey two in a row. "That kid is great . . . but I had to slow him down," laughed Palmer, who was even par over the holes played.

Sentences of Convicts Set Aside

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley Monday set aside the 21-year sentences of two Cummins Prison Farm inmates on the grounds the two did not receive effective legal counsel when they pleaded guilty in March 1969, in Drew County Circuit Court to six felony charges. Henley sent the cases of Otis H. Reed Jr., 25, and William E. Coulter, 24, both of Monticello back to Circuit Court for further proceedings. B. G. Colvin III, a Dermott attorney, had testified that he was appointed as attorney for the two — but only to advise them of their rights.

Big Issue Is Constitution

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Odus O. Wilson of North Little Rock, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said Monday the proposed new state constitution was one of the biggest issues in the campaign. Wilson said he was against the document because it took power from the people and placed the power into the hands of a few politicians. Wilson, in an interview, said the way to achieve quality education was to allow the people to be happy where they are being educated.

Faubus Scoffs at Charges by Opponents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Orval Faubus Monday said that a charge by James Malone Jr. that Faubus and Hayes McClerkin had received hundreds of thousands of dollars "from the same political machine" was "ridiculous."

Faubus, McClerkin and Malone are all seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Malone told a news conference Monday that Jess Odom and Raymond Rebsamen, both Little Rock businessmen, passed the machine funds on to the two candidates. He said Odom was the go-between for Faubus' campaign and that Rebsamen served the same purpose in McClerkin's campaign.

Both Rebsamen and Odom also denied the charge. Rebsamen said that he didn't know McClerkin. In response to a charge by W. S. Cheek, another Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, that Faubus and his "financial backers" had put the Rev. R. J. Hampton, James MacKrell and Lester Gibbs into the Republican primary, Faubus said Cheek "appears to be a man who has a job to do and is trying to do it." Faubus said that people "have always attributed to me far more power and influence than I've ever had." Cheek said that he did not believe that Faubus would be in the runoff. Cline said long-term effects of Secretary Bryant has been Treasurer of the Association during the past year. During the convention, Bryant served as Co-Chairman with Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst of Iowa in the seminar on Trademarks and Service Marks. Bryant is a native of Hope, Arkansas, and has served as Secretary of State for the past eight years. He is seeking re-election in the General Election to be held in Arkansas on November 3, 1970.

House Fumes Over Probe of Pornography

By JIM ADAMS Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee is fuming at White House researchers who monitored the responses of 23 young men as they watched a stag movie. Chairman Robert N.C. Nix, D-Pa., demands an explanation. Nix termed the experiment revolting, and said he would have subpoenaed Drs. James L. Howard, Clifford S. Reifler and Myron B. Liptzin of the President's Commission on Pornography if they hadn't volunteered to testify.

The trio, from the University of North Carolina, have said the experiment demonstrated prolonged exposure to pornography becomes boring. Nix said Monday the experiment encouraged students to violate moral standards at a time when they are questioning all values established by their elders.

"I want to know what the justification of this experiment is that it warrants breakdown of the culture," Nix said in an interview. "I don't think any culture has survived without fixed moral values."

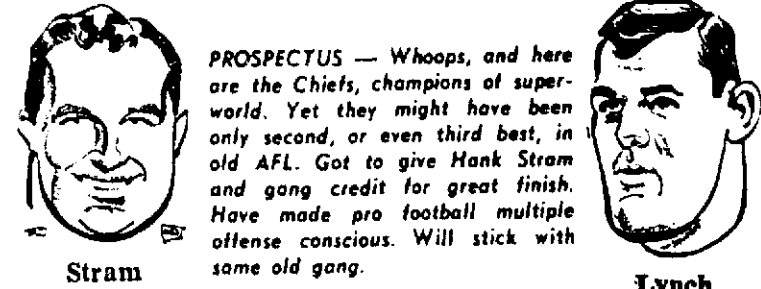

"There have been experiments that seemed questionable but proved to benefit all mankind," he added. "If this proves to be that, I'll accept it. But I'll be damned if I'll take it like it is."

The commission's preliminary finding that pornography does not cause sex crimes and is not harmful was challenged in opening testimony before Nix's post-al operations subcommittee by a Salt Lake City psychologist. "Because of the extreme complexity of the problem and the uniqueness of individual human experience," Dr. Victor B. Cline, said in prepared testimony, "it is doubtful that we will ever have absolutely convincing scientific proof that pornography is or isn't harmful." Cline, chairman of the Salt Lake Area Youth Protection Committee, said reports that sex crimes dropped 31 per cent in Denmark after pornography was legalized are misleading because public indecency, voyeurism, male prostitution and sale of pornography are no longer counted as crimes in Denmark.

pornography cannot be determined from short-term studies such as those conducted by the presidential commission or by Denmark's one-year experience with legalized pornography. "We may have to wait possibly for a generation," he said in his prepared remarks, to note its full effect on the life styles, marriage, patterns of divorce and the general happiness and well being of the Danish People."

Pro Charts

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN American Conference: KANSAS CITY

PROSPECTUS — Whoops, and here are the Chiefs, champions of super-world. Yet they might have been only second, or even third best, in old AFL. Got to give Hank Stram and gang credit for great finish. Have made pro football multiple offense conscious. Will stick with same old gang.

PASSING — PeeWee Reese used to wear out shortstop candidates on old Dodgers; Lenny Dawson wears out aspiring quarterbacks on Chiefs. Gimpy knee had chance to heal during off-season. Still doesn't inspire awe as passer, but crafty 35-year-old gets job done. Mike Livingston is logical heir. Rating—B+

RECEIVING—In fine fettle, as in Super Bowl, Otis Taylor can't be topped for size, speed. At other wide spot, Frank Pitts barely stays step ahead of Gloster Richardson, with Goldie Sellers added to cast this season. Tried to shift Fred Arbanas from tight end to tackle year ago, but found his one eye was better than other guys' two. Rating—B

RUNNING—Three little guys 5-9 don't work hardship when their names are Mike Garrett (shifty), Warren McVea (swift), Robert Holmes (solid). They'll probably alternate Garrett, McVea again for maximum results. Wendell Hayes is handy big guy, too. Rating—B+

LINE—Imposing. Mo Moorman's on verge of all-pro status, but must get by guard mate Ed Budde. Dave Hill was supposed to be weak sister at right tackle, but he handled Carl Eller. Jim Tyrer's slimmed down to 260. Sid Smith's a rookie tackle who can help. Rating—B+

DEFENSE LINE—No help needed, although they'll get it if Ernie Ladd's knee lets him play again. All the protection you would want inside with high Buck Buchanan, stacky Curly Culp (who grapples runners like wrestler he was). And brawny Aaron Brown even exceeds perennial star Jerry Mays as pass rushers from end spots. There's drop-off in quality behind starters, though. Rating—A SECONDARY—Chiefs like to brag about high interception rate of secondary. No doubt that addition of Jim Marsalis at left corner raised quality of play. But it's obvious they can't afford loss of vet like Johnny Robinson, a team original, who played Super Bowl wrapped like mummy. Emmitt Thomas at other corner, Jim Kearney round out crew. Rating—B

KICKING—Very important element in Stram strategy because any time Chiefs cross midfield, Jan Stenerud's good for three. Jerrel Wilson is fine punter. Rating—A

PREDICTION Second in Western Division, same as last year. But with play-off system as in '69, that doesn't rule out Chiefs. (Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

Joe Lapchick, Basketball Great, Dies

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The passing of Joe Lapchick leaves Nat Holman and Henry "Dutch" Dehnert as the only survivors of the Original Celtics, the team which dominated pro basketball nearly half a century ago in the 1920s. Lapchick, who became a legend in the sport he saw develop from its peach basket beginnings into the big business it is today, died Monday in Monticello, N.Y., at the age of 70.

He played more than a decade barnstorming with Holman and Dehnert on the Celtics before gaining even greater fame as a college and professional coach. The other players on the Celtics who have passed on, in addition to Lapchick, are Johnny Beckman, Davey Banks, Chris Leonard, Pete Barry, George Haggerty, Eddie Burke and Ernie Reich.

Both Holman and Dehnert are in their 70's and live in New York.

The Big Indian, as Lapchick was known, was inducted into basketball's Hall of Fame in 1967 two years after his retirement as coach at St. John's University after his underdog Redmen had won the National Invitation Tourney for a record fourth time.

He had started coaching at St. John's in 1936 and after 11 years, went to the New York Knicks of the pro NBA. He had the Knicks in the championship playoff finals for three straight years in 1951-2-3. He returned to St. John's in 1956. Altogether his record at St. John's was 335 won, 129 lost. With Knicks, his won-lost record was 300-222.

Says Stephens Profited in Crossett Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard Earl Griffin of Crossett, a Democratic candidate for attorney general, charged Monday that W. R. "Witt" Stephens conspired to make a tremendous profit off the city of Crossett by purchasing the city's public utilities and then selling them six months later. Griffin made the statement in a television speech here Monday night.

Pollution Data Taken From PSC Official

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Don S. Smith, a member of the state Public Service Commission, said Monday that he would pay "many, many times the value" of a briefcase stolen from his car Saturday night that contained important records of the Southern Regional Environmental Conservation Council. The briefcase was left in Smith's car in front of his home Saturday night. Smith said that no questions would be asked if the case is returned.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Vermont was the first state in the United States to provide universal voting rights for men without restriction as to property or wealth. The World Almanac recalls that a general convention held July 28, 1777, agreed upon a state constitution which permitted all natural-born citizens over 21 to elect officers and be elected to office.

King's Image Tinged by Time Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Time magazine says the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. muted his criticism of the FBI after its director, J. Edgar Hoover, confronted him with wiretaps revealing King's alleged extramarital activities.

In an article discussing a new book about King, "The King God Didn't Save," by novelist John Williams, Time gives its version of a 1964 meeting between King and Hoover.

Time says Williams reports the FBI began tapping King's telephone and bugging his hotel rooms in 1963 and while it uncovered no subversion it "did turn up an astonishing amount of information about King's extensive and vigorous sexual activities."

Time continues: "Williams has the correct outline of the FBI tape story. What he does not have is precisely what happened at the celebrated meeting between FBI Director Hoover and King in 1964."

"Hoover, Time learned, explained to King just what damaging private detail he had on the tapes and lectured him that his morals should be those befitting a Nobel Prize winner. He also suggested that King should tone down his criticism of the FBI. King took the advice. His decline in black esteem followed, a decline scathingly narrated by Williams."

The fact that the FBI had been tapping King's telephone was disclosed last year by FBI agent Robert Nichols in a Houston, Tex., courtroom where boxer Cassius Clay was seeking to vacate a sentence for refusal to be inducted into the Army. One of the monitored conversations was between King and Clay.

Many Whiplash Injuries Require No Treatment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is a whiplash injury?

A—It is one that occurs when a person is sitting in a vehicle that is suddenly hit from behind. As his body is propelled forward, his head snaps backwards then, a few seconds later, it jerks forward. The severity of the injury varies widely depending on whether a ligament in the neck is torn, a cervical vertebra is injured or an intervertebral disk is ruptured. About 94 per cent are simple sprains which recover in two or three weeks with little or no treatment.

Would Make Law Violators Pay Their Way

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, outlined a plan Saturday in which persons convicted of law violations would bear the cost of improvements in the state prisons.

Purcell said a minimum of $500,000 would be raised by imposing an extra cost of $25 on each felony conviction where the sentence was suspended, a cost of $25 on each gambling conviction and a cost of $15 on each serious misdemeanor.

"It is time that the wrongdoer helped to support the Department of Correction," Purcell said at a news conference.

Purcell also said he would recommend that 8,000 acres of farmland at Cummins Prison Farm be leased to private individuals. He said this would yield $250,000 in revenues for the state.

The candidate said he would use the revenue from the farmland and the court fees to hire at least 50 free-world guards; construct a cannery at the prison; construct a walled maximum security area for inmates who needed that type of security; and replace the other "crude existing facilities" at the prison farms.

"Under my plan, rehabilitation and penal reform will become a reality," Purcell said. "At the same time, the Arkansas penal system will serve the purpose for which all penal institutions are intended."

He said the state's prisons would become a national model under his administration. "It is time that the politicians quit playing games with our correctional institutions."

Purcell said he did not know of another state that used fines as a method of supporting correction departments. He explained that the $15 assessment on misdemeanor convictions would include shoplifting, driving while under the influence of liquor, public drunkenness, petty theft, hot checks, aggravated assault, bootlegging and liquor violations.

He said the cannery at Cummins would give inmates an opportunity to learn skills that would help them obtain good jobs when they were released. "Chopping cotton with a hoe and picking okra by hand doesn't teach anyone any marketable skill," Purcell said.

When King's College (now Columbia University) opened in New York in 1754, it had eight students and one instructor.

Lipstick: A Job Hazard

Near the end of her lunch hour, a stenographer sat down in the company lounge to put on lipstick. But she lost her balance and fell, suffering a back injury. Could she collect workmen's compensation?

The company insisted that the girl was not entitled to compensation because she was not "on the job" when hurt. Nevertheless, a court upheld her claim.

"Applying cosmetics was not an abandonment of her employment," said the judge. "It added to her comfort and self-esteem, and thereby permitted her to more efficiently concentrate upon her duties."

Generally speaking, workmen's compensation covers injuries that occur not only during the work itself but also during other activities closely related to the job. For example, it applies while an employee is getting a drink of water or going to the lavatory.

In fact, workmen's compensation may apply even before the day's work has begun. Take this case:

A hotel waitress, arriving early, headed first for the powder room to change into working shoes. On the way, she slipped and broke her arm. Even though she had not yet been on the job, she was held entitled to workmen's compensation—because changing her shoes was so closely related to her work.

However, the law usually will not approve a compensation claim if the victim's activity was in violation of company rules and regulations.

In another case, a bakery worker was injured while trying to force open a tight window. He claimed later that the room had been stuffy, and that he needed some fresh air to help him work better.

However, there happened to be a company rule against anyone opening windows without the permission of the foreman. Accordingly, a court ruled that the claimant was not entitled to compensation. The court said he could not logically be considered "on the job" while doing something that his employer had specifically forbidden.

Sees Increase in Campus Activism

By GALE TOLLIN
Associated Press Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The president of the National Student Association predicted today the coming academic year will see an increase in campus activism, "much tougher and much more locally centered."

Charles Palmer said in an interview he couldn't anticipate the specific patterns of increased student protest. But he said he was sure much effort would be directed against the Vietnam war, racism, pollution and corporations which manufacture war goods or contribute to contamination of the environment.

U.S. military involvement in Cambodia this year made college people "a little harder, a little tougher, a little more cynical about the responsiveness of the political system, a little more cynical about how the political protester is dealt with in this country," said Palmer, of East Los Angeles, Calif.

"Next year will see a redoubling of activism," said the 23-year-old graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. The NSA is holding its annual congress here.

The NSA says it has chapters on 500 college and university campuses and claims to be the nation's largest student organization. Its membership is counted by chapter, rather than by student.

"The exact thrusts depend upon what happens externally," Palmer said. "Lest we become reactionary, we'll have to respond to what the President and other people are doing."

But he said there is bound to be activity against government, and it may include some directed at state governments, at mayors and at campus administrations. It will all depend upon what issues arise, Palmer said.

Without recommending any cooling of campus activism, Palmer said the time has come for students to go to their home communities and elsewhere to spread word of what they've been doing. The generation gap is widening, he said, and communication is important.

"I think one of the real crises facing students the next couple years is how to build and broaden their base, how to get out to other people, how to understand what other people are doing and how to make understood what student interests are."

Palmer said students have tremendous problems understanding and being sensitive to the problems of most working people.

"Most students have been away from home for a while," he said. "They don't know about the insecurity of being laid off, or the insecurity of a big doctor bill. They don't really sense, nearly as directly as their parents, the effects of the present recession...."

A rapid talker, Palmer wore blue jeans, a green shirt and—unlike many NSA delegates—shoes. His full mustache droops. His black hair is a bit scraggly, but not very long by the standards of today's youth. His smiles are faint, his scowls are deep.

The generation gap is increasing, he said, in the sense that "awareness" spreads much faster among students than in other parts of society. He said students are much less fatalistic about what can be done or can't be done.

"More and more college people are thinking in terms of 'let's do it' instead of 'don't tell me it can't be done.' They want to change things around," he said. "People don't want to become pawns for someone else's ego."

How about charges that campus unrest is Communist supported?

Palmer said his group, the NSA, "has no backing from anybody except for a couple of grants from foundations."

He said that talk of Communist support is rather irrelevant anyway.

"It shouldn't be a question of who we're backed by as long as we're responsive to the students," he said. "The students of the colleges and universities set our policies."

Palmer also had these observations:

Drugs—They have become a factor on campus. "A whole new culture has developed around drugs. The laws are terrible, and enforcement of the laws is terrible."

Discourages APA Vote in GOP Primary

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
LEXA, Ark. (AP) — Walter Carruth of Lexa, the American Party in Arkansas' nominee for governor, says he has attempted to discourage any organized attempts by the APA to vote in the Republican primary.

"Several people have asked me about this," Carruth said without naming the persons, but he said it would be foolish for the APA to attempt to enter either party primary in mass force.

"I've heard statements they would like to go in numbers and vote in one primary for one candidate or another," Carruth said, adding that the statements came from persons in different parts of the state.

There have been rumors that the APA was attempting to gather in force and vote in the Republican primary in an effort to defeat Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who is seeking a third term.

Carruth, however, said he has not told anyone whom he preferred they vote for in the primaries.

Marion Burton, Rockefeller's campaign director, acknowledged hearing the rumor and said that "although I don't completely ignore any rumor from the standpoint of strategy, as a practical matter, I know that it is an impossible undertaking on the part of any political organization to have the kind of reserves it takes to be successful in such a program."

Reserves, he said, were the number of extra votes a party could sacrifice in one area to, in effect, accomplish a negative effect in another area.

"We've been accused many times of organizing Republican votes for a weak opponent in the Democratic primary, but this is just fanciful conjecture on the part of certain groups of people," Burton said.

The Rev. R. J. Hampton, a Negro Republican candidate for governor, is expected to attract a larger than usual number of Negro votes into the Republican primary.

And Burton said that "in effect, the Hampton candidacy is causing us to work harder. He's working hard and he's generating some votes."

However, Burton said he did not think Hampton's candidacy would take the Negro vote away from Rockefeller. Burton said the larger the vote in the GOP primary, the larger vote Rockefeller will get.

Burton said the figure he had heard that it would take to defeat Rockefeller in the primary was 25,000 votes.

"I'm concerned about the possibility of a substantial number of APA and Hampton votes," he said, "but in the first place even the Democrats and the Republicans themselves would have a hard time coming up with 25,000 hardcore people who would react in such a manner."

"I doubt seriously that the APA has that kind of control over that many voters in the state," Burton said. "The APA may have control over 1,000 voters."

Regardless of the source, Burton said, "we would like to see a large GOP primary."

And, Burton said, Rockefeller is in excellent shape for the primary.

mony was repetitious. They objected particularly to accounts of the roles of two women defendants in the killings.

Paul Fitzgerald objected successfully six times to Kanarek's questions concerning his client, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and vehemently opposed introduction into evidence of a picture of the bloody body of one victim.

"The picture is prejudicial and inflammatory," Fitzgerald said. The judge ruled the picture would not be admitted until Kanarek laid a proper foundation with questioning. Kanarek dropped the subject.

Daye Shinn, representing Susan Atkins, 21, objected to a question eliciting testimony about a conversation Mrs. Kasabian said she had with Miss Atkins.

Later, Ronald Hughes, attorney for Leslie Van Houten, 20, told newsmen he felt Kanarek was hurting the defense case with his cross-examination.

"He's turned her from an incredible witness into a credible witness," said Hughes. "He's hurting us by getting into the crime. I keep asking him to stop.... He sort of ignores me."

Kanarek told newsmen: "In this type of case a lawyer can represent only one litigant. Conflicts arise. An answer to a question may hurt one party and help another. Reasonable minds can differ at a trial."

Fitzgerald said the original defense plan was to proceed on the theory that all four defendants are innocent and dependent upon one another in their defense. Kanarek has "slipped from the fold," he said. Fitzgerald added that Kanarek possibly was doing a good job for his client but damaging the case of the women.

The squabble among attorneys came after the judge granted a defense request that Mrs. Kasabian be granted her promised immunity from prosecution. The defense attorneys said they felt once the grant was final she could recant her testimony if she wished without fear of retribution.

Gas Train Is Described Not Dangerous

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two trains carrying nerve gas described by an Army spokesman as "no more dangerous than a load of coal," moved across Southern states today on their slow trips to the sea.

The Army's plans to dump the gas in the Atlantic 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla., apparently faced a court challenge from that state.

"We are going to sue the Army tomorrow," Nathaniel P. Reed, chairman of Florida's Air and Water Pollution Control Board, said Monday night.

The 418 concrete and steel jacketed vaults of nerve gas rockets left Monday from Army depots at Richmond, Ky., and Anniston, Ala. for Sunny Point, N.C. Later in the week the Army plans to load the vaults aboard a barge, tow it to sea and scuttle it.

Col. S. M. Burney, commander of the Anniston depot, said the vaults are "safer than coal because a coal train can wreck and this one can't."

Residents of many Georgia communities through which the train from Anniston passed, Monday seemed to share the Army's confidence.

"Nobody is afraid of this train because back during World War II we all saw some spookier things come down these tracks," C. S. Stephens said. He is the manager of a concrete plant at Tallapoosa, Ga., the first Georgia town through which the train passed.

The Lexington train was almost ignored by residents of the Eastern Kentucky mountains as only handfuls of people gathered at crossings near the larger towns as the train went by.

The Anniston train changed crews at Griffin and was halted a few minutes north of Macon for repairs to a broken air line before moving slowly through the city toward Athens.

Mayor Ronnie Thompson of Macon, who had opposed the shipment, then changed his mind, was among those watching. He said he was relieved the train was through his city.

Elaborate security precautions were taken for the mission, which the Army calls Operation Chase.

Little Rock to Phase Out Negro School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock School Board voted Monday to phase out Horace Mann High School over the next three years.

The proposal was a supplement to a desegregation plan rejected Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley. Henley told the board to formulate another plan by Monday.

The plan would begin next month with the discontinuation of the 10th grade at Horace Mann and the assignment of 100 black students from that grade to Hall High.

The board scrapped a plan that would have made Central High School a junior and senior high school.

Henley is adopting the revised plan the board adopted a week ago saying it didn't like the first plan and was submitting it to the court.

WR Favors Self Insurance for Schools

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday night that there were no partisan overtones at a meeting of the National Governors Conference here.

"One might anticipate partisan overtones since there are both Republicans and Democrats here but such is not the case," Rockefeller said.

He said there is a lot of debate and discussion on several topics but the governors were working hard in an attempt to arrive at bipartisan decisions.

Rockefeller also said he is in favor of the concept of self-insurance for public schools.

Kosygin May Attend Fall UN Session

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin "very probably" will attend the U.N. General Assembly's 25th anniversary session this fall, an authoritative U.N. source said today.

The assembly will mark its first quarter century during the three-month annual session that starts Sept. 15. Heads of state and government of all 126 member countries have been invited to speak either during the general debate Sept. 17-Oct. 2 or at a special commemorative session to be held Oct. 19-24.

Oct. 24, 1945 is the date the U.N. charter took effect.

The U.S. delegation has reserved places on the speakers' lists for the first day of the general debate and for the last day of the commemorative session. There are indications that Nixon

Denies Using WR Headquarters

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sterling R. Cockrill Jr., a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, said Monday that he did not believe his switch from the Democratic to the Republican party would be a significant "hurdle" to overcome.

Cockrill said the real issue was who could get the job done.

"The politicians are going to give me a bad time, but they would have regardless of my party," Cockrill said.

He also denied that he was using Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's campaign headquarters in Little Rock "or any section of the state."

might prefer the earlier date.

The Soviet delegation has also reserved places on both lists. If Kosygin shows up, it probably will be for the commemorative session.

The fact that a country is on the speakers' list does not necessarily mean a top leader will attend.

King's Widow Takes Issue With Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Three associates of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and his widow have taken issue with a Time magazine account of a 1964 meeting between King and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover.

The three colleagues of the slain civil rights worker branded as "totally false" Time's report that Hoover confronted King with wiretaps revealing King's alleged extramarital activities.

Coretta S. King said in a statement Monday from Atlanta that the Time story "does not correspond" with what her husband told her.

Time, in discussing author John Williams' new book about King, "The King God Didn't Save," said that Hoover "lectured" King on his morals and suggested he tone down his criticism of the FBI.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; the Rev. Andrew Young and the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy said in a joint statement Monday:

"All three of us were present during the entire discussion and at no point did Mr. Hoover lecture Dr. King or even comment on his personal life.... Time magazine discredits itself in seeking to throw mud on a man admired and loved by millions, black and white. It discredits itself in stooping to sensationalism through fiction and irresponsibility."

A spokesman for Time, commenting on the statements, said:

"A careful reading of Time's article should make quite clear the magazine's admiration for Dr. King's work—for example, the observations that Dr. King's leadership brought conscience and cohesion to the cause of black equality and that he was the catalyst in the formation of a truly national civil rights movement."

"As for the facts in the article, Time stands by its reporting."

Breath Of The Old West

It was a scene worthy of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

Two young men, faces hidden by a ski mask and a black stocking, held up a train in Texas July 18 by jumping from the bushes and ordering the engineer to stop. They went down the cars, relieving passengers of the contents of their wallets and purses, and escaped in the dark.

But maybe the movie-famous Cassidy and the Sundance Kid would have been above this kind of job. For the train was a miniature one, in Brackenridge Park in San Antonio, and the haul was only $500. What's more, one elderly passenger refused to turn over his wallet and laughed at the robbers.

It just goes to show that drama and humor — and lawlessness — are still part of the West. Waynesboro (Va.) News-Virginian

Beethoven - Dig That Man

Music lovers around the world are celebrating 1970 as the 200th anniversary of the birth of Ludwig Von Beethoven. Even the teeny-boppers.

A reasonably straight version of the final — the "Ode to Joy" — from Beethoven's ninth and last symphony, written when the great composer was totally deaf, is currently climbing up on what the old folks once called the hit parade.

Some 143 years after the master's death, another generation is discovering him and claiming him as their own. Which is a good start toward a definition of immortality. Stillwater (Okla.) News-Press

Our Kind Of Place?

Is nothing sacred? Do those gleaming yellow arches hold no value? In the New McDonald's hamburger places, there will be no yellow arches above simple glassed-in take-out counters.

Officers Stay on Alert at Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Acting City Manager Ray Joyner said today that police will remain on alert here "until it is clear there is no further danger of violence."

In racial disorders here Sunday, two policemen were wounded, not seriously, and more than 30 Negroes were arrested after windows in several businesses were shattered with bricks and rocks.

No disorders were reported since Sunday and city officials have expressed confidence that the disturbance will not be repeated.

Joyner noted in a prepared statement today that police had so far declined to return gunfire, but Joyner quoted Police Chief G. B. Cole as saying that the department wanted to make it clear that instructions have been given to meet force with force in order to protect the people and policemen.

Retiring FTC Head Would Ban Agency

By MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Retiring Federal Trade Commissioner Philip Elman called today for virtual abolition of his agency. He recommended splitting the FTC's functions between a single administrator, recallable by both the President and Congress, and a trade court.

Elman asserted the FTC, and other so-called independent regulatory agencies, are independent from all but the interests they regulate. As a result, the public is the loser, he said.

In addition, the combination of prosecutorial and judicial functions in a single agency usually make the outcome of a commission proceeding "a foregone conclusion," he contended.

"Without a doubt, the theory underlying the independent regulatory commission was original and brilliant," Elman told the antitrust section of the American Bar Association. "We must now look to experience more than theory."

Elman a veteran of 31 years in the federal government and an FTC member since 1953 recommended replacing the current five-member commission with a single administrator who would serve at the pleasure of the President Congress and would be removable by either.

Judicial functions, he said, should be given to a trade court, which could hold hearings in every state.

Some Relief From Humidity Is Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cooler temperatures and some relief from the high humidity is expected through Wednesday as an air mass from the north becomes established over Arkansas today.

Only widely scattered and very light rainfall was expected in the southern portion of the state today.

Rainfall during the last few days has resulted in flooding of many smaller streams. However, no major damage was reported. The Black and Cache rivers have reached the flood stage, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Cloudiness was expected to slowly decrease from the west and skies are expected to become fair to partly cloudy Wednesday.

Highs Monday ranged from 93 at Fort Smith to 84 at Harrison.

Overnight lows included 61 at Fayetteville, 66 at Harrison, 68 at Jonesboro, 69 at Pine Bluff, 72 at Texarkana, 74 at El Dorado, 71 at Memphis, 70 at Little Rock and 69 at Fort Smith.

Reflections From the Morning Mail—Most Americans Are Too Fat

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

How fat are Americans? Well, the body of a very lean man or woman contain 10 to 25 per cent fat, but most Americans are 25 per cent fat and some 50 per cent or more. About 80 per cent of U.S. men are above the weight which statistically, for their height, leads to the greatest longevity.

On the other hand, the heaviest baby of modern times was born to a woman in Southern Turkey. It weighed 24 pounds at birth, more than three times the weight U.S. doctors suggest now as ideal.

Turning streets in the business districts of cities into pedestrian malls isn't a 20th century idea. One of the first things Julius Caesar reportedly did when he became the boss of ancient Rome was to ban the daytime use of carts and chariots in the crowded center of the

8th Judicial Circuit High in Disposing of Criminal, Civil Cases

Arkansas' Judicial Department's fifth annual report listed the 8th Judicial Circuit as number one in net gains for criminal and civil cases disposed of during 1969 under presiding Judge W. H. Arnold III.

The annual report listed a new high in case terminations for the state circuit courts of 19,316, but also marked a new high of untried cases with 14,881 in the state. In all, 1,842 more pending cases remain on the books over the 1968 pending case total.

In the 8th Circuit Court 435 cases were pending at the beginning of 1969, with a total of 812 being terminated before the end of the year. The total cases terminated represented an increase of 96 cases over the previous year, placing Judge Arnold's court as the leader in case termination for 1969 in Arkansas.

Clark, Hempstead, Miller, and Nevada Counties, encompassing the 8th Circuit, each showed a gain in currency of case load.

Clark County began 1969 with 115 pending cases with a total of 133 criminal and civil cases being filed during the year. 176 cases were disposed of during the year, leaving 72 pending as of January 1 of this year, a net gain of 43.

Hempstead County began 1969 with 51 pending cases with a total of 139 criminal and civil cases being filed during the year. 144 cases were disposed of during the year, leaving 46 pending as of January 1 of this year, a net gain of five.

Miller County began 1969 with 277 pending cases with a total of 371 criminal and civil cases being filed during the year. 413 cases were disposed of during the year, leaving 46 pending as of January 1 of this year, a net gain of five.

Dr. Issam Saratawi, head of the Action Organization for the Liberation of Palestine, said his group and the Arab Palestine Organization thought Nasser would use the cease-fire only as a tactic to advance the Arab war effort against Israel.

"But after the cease-fire went into effect," Saratawi said, "we realized that our conclusion was wrong."

Two small guerrilla groups fell into line behind the major commando outfits after fighting in Jordan during the past week between pro and anti-Nasser guerrillas in which three Arabs were killed and 19 wounded.

With guerrilla activity continuing unabated against Israel, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command said 12 commandos have been killed by Israeli troops since the Israeli-Jordanian-Egyptian cease-fire went into effect at midnight Friday.

A Jordanian officer said the cease-fire between Jordan and Israel was violated twice Sunday, but both exchanges of fire between Israeli and Jordanian troops stemmed from clashes between Israeli soldiers and commandos from Jordan. Jordan in agreeing to the cease-fire said it could not be held responsible for the guerrillas.

WHITE HALL, Ark. (AP) — James W. Thompson, 50, of Topeka, Kan., was killed and three other persons injured Monday in a two-vehicle crash on U.S. 65 about four miles north of here.

The Warsaw Pact nations at a meeting in Budapest in June revised their proposed agenda for a European security conference and agreed for the first time to include talks on "the reduction of foreign armed forces on the territories of European states."

Sources here said the NATO allies would not respond before their foreign ministers meet in Brussels in December.

Two neutral European governments—Austria and Finland—also have been actively pressing for a European security conference. Both have offered their capital cities for preparatory talks. But the sources here said these proposals would also have to await the NATO meeting in December.

Some NATO nations, notably the United States, and Britain, have long been skeptical of the value of a European security conference without thorough preparation.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A rift appears to be developing in the defense team in the Sharon Tate murder trial. Three lawyers have accused Charles M. Manson's attorney of trying to "dump" three women codefendants to help Manson's case.

Manson, the shaggy-haired clan leader accused of ordering the women to kill Miss Tate and six others, joined the attack Monday on his own attorney, Irving Kanarek.

"I object to my attorney," Manson told the judge. "He's not speaking for me."

The complaints about Kanarek came during his sixth day of cross-examination of the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, who Monday was granted immunity from prosecution. He hammered away at details of the night a year ago when the beautiful actress and four others were slain at her Bel Air mansion.

Other attorneys said the testi-

Woman's Rights Issue Only the Beginning, Says Lady Lawmaker Talks Unlikely to Bring Cut in Troops

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martha Griffiths is counting on woman power to propel through the Senate and the state legislatures a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights with men.

"A lot of things have changed," the Michigan Democrat grinned as she savored a 350-15 victory in the House Monday. She had pried the measure from the Judiciary Committee shelf where it had collected dust for 47 years and engineered the floor victory.

But that was only the beginning, she said, pointing to the Senate where possibly fatal delays await the proposal. And after that, the amendment must be approved by 38 of the 50 legislatures before becoming a part of the Constitution.

Other backers are not so optimistic about chances of the amendment. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., who says she has felt more prejudice as a woman than as a Negro, is fearful that men who run the game of politics still may block the proposal.

She cited, for example, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., 82 and a widower, who sought to have the amendment sent back to committee for more study.

"Let's face it, Mr. Celler has been one of the champions for the civil rights of minorities—but he is like other men in feeling women have a different place and there should be definite limitations on them," Mrs. Chisholm said.

And the galleries, packed with women, weren't buying Celler's argument that "there is as much difference between a male and a female as there is between a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse. Vive la difference."

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., has approved a companion measure. Backers concede, however, there is enough opposition in the full committee at least to delay the amendment. Bayh is committed to pressing first for action on an amendment for direct election of the president, now ready for Senate action.

Until Monday, the House had never had a chance to vote on the women's amendment, which states that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The Senate twice has approved similar amendments—but with a rider preserving legislation purportedly protecting women.

Murder of American in U.S. Confirms Uruguay Brings Fear of More Executions

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The murder of a kidnapped U.S. official and a new execution threat increased fears today for the lives of Brazilian consul and an American agricultural expert still held by the Tupamaro guerrillas.

A local radio station reported early today that a body had been found near a beachside avenue and possibly was that of the Brazilian diplomat. Police and soldiers searched the area but reported they found no body.

The leftist Tupamaros abducted U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Mares Dias Gomide on July 31 and demanded the release of all political prisoners in Uruguay as ransom. The gov-

Warns Law Will Restrict Food Stamps

By ROBERT A. HUNT

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democrats predict a massive reduction in the food stamp program within a year if new restrictions approved by the House Agriculture Committee become law.

The claims were made Monday by Reps. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., and Allard K. Lowenstein, D-N.Y., the only members of the House panel who voted against a three-year bill when it was approved 25-2 last month.

They said in dissenting to the committee's report that the present program reaches only about one-fourth of those in need and the new proposals "may, in reality, prove to be regressive."

"We predict, that by July 1, 1971, should the committee's amendments become law, less than one-half of the people now buying stamps would still be enrolled in the program," Foley and Lowenstein said.

About 5.9 million people in 44 states and the District of Columbia now take part in the program under which eligible persons exchange money normally spent for food on coupons which then are worth more.

The version approved by the House Agriculture Committee doesn't resemble the liberalization of the program passed last fall by the Senate.

Bomb Threat Delays Brandt's Departure

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt flew off to Moscow today to sign a treaty with the Soviet Union after his plane was delayed for nearly two hours by a telephone call that a bomb was aboard. No bomb was found.

Ruediger Von Wechmar, government spokesman, said the plane was in takeoff position when "two security guards came from the cockpit and told us that we must disembark because there was a bomb scare."

Earlier an Interior Ministry spokesman had said the plane had begun rolling down the runway when it was stopped. This was later cleared up when it appeared he meant the plane had rolled to its takeoff position.

Brandt and his party were taken by bus to a lounge while the search was made.

Stepup in Cambodia

By ROBERT A. DORRIN

AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. fighter bombers and gun ships have doubled the number of air strikes against enemy targets in Cambodia this month, Pentagon sources said in confirming reports of stepped up U.S. air attacks.

Since Aug. 1, the sources said, U.S. warplanes have flown an average of 50 attack sorties a day against enemy troops and supplies throughout Cambodia as compared to a daily average of 24 during July.

A sortie is one flight by one plane.

In addition, there have been an undisclosed number of photo-reconnaissance flights.

The sources gave no reason for the sharp increase in U.S. air raids which coincided with a step-up in ground fighting between the Cambodians and communist forces.

Eyewitness reports from American newsmen say U.S. planes, loaded with napalm and conventional bombs, are being used to provide direct combat air support for beleaguered Cambodian troops.

The Nixon administration has repeatedly denied giving close air support to the Cambodians. In its latest policy statement Monday, the Pentagon declared, "the President's policy on air operations in Cambodia is that we will conduct operations to interdict enemy supplies, communications and personnel when such operations will enhance the safety and security of U.S. allied personnel in South Vietnam."

The statement acknowledged, however, that "these operations may also have a dual benefit that may serve our purposes and at the same time serve the Cambodian government."

The level of U.S. air attacks remains far below that mounted in May and June when American and South Vietnamese infantrymen were cleaning out enemy sanctuary areas along the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border.

U.S. fighter bombers and high-flying B52s made more than 5,400 individual attacks during May while photo planes flew almost 800 sorties in the first month of the drive into Cambodia.

Air activity slackened considerably in June as the operation neared its end.
